Rooftop Wrigley Done Right (WDR) offers all the VIP amenities to complete your Cubs' experience. Providing a view that overlooks Wrigley's right field wall, surround sound Broadcasting, multiple flatscreens, and an open bar and grill, WDR is the ultimate way to enjoy this Cubs' season.

May 20, 2009 (CHICAGO) - The rooftop Wrigley Done Right (WDR) is celebrating its second season with the Cubs. Even in Opening Day's less-than-perfect weather, spectators at WDR enjoyed the Cubs' game and their VIP treatment. Located directly behind first base and above Wrigley's bleachers, rooftop viewers at 3621-25 Sheffield are able to enjoy every Cubs' home game in luxury and with a completely unobstructed view. Boasting the closest rooftop seating to home plate, Wrigley Done Right delivers views and service that could only be matched if your living room offered skybox views and catering.

Fans have the option to watch the game from the rooftop's bleachers or the Clubhouse's full length windows—making Wrigley Done Right the spot to enjoy a Cubs' game, whatever the forecast. WDR visitors won't miss a second of the game since 10+ flat screens can be found between the grill area, bar, and bathroom. Besides that, state-of-the-art surround sound deliver Pat and Ron's WGN broadcasting. Wrigley Done Right delivers VIP service from start to finish with their open bar and grill, offering everything from Wisconsin Style Brats to Chicago thin crust pizza. Fans can order their favorite drink from the extensive beverage menu at either the rooftop or Clubhouse bar.

Return customer actor Joe Gannascoli (best known as Vito from HBO's Sopranos) commented on his Wrigley Done Right visit as being "one of the greatest experiences [he's] ever had at a ballgame. You mingle with fans, have great food and drink, and have an exceptional host and staff." Adding later, "If and when the Cubbies win the World Series, I hope my sons' sons will be around to watch it at Wrigley Done Right. Hah!"
